Dredges expected to arrive at deep hole next weekend

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A U.S. Army Corps of Engineers spokesman Friday revealed dredging equipment which will be utilized to fill the deep hole offshore from Waveland will be at the work site sometime next weekend.

Winnie Smith, a public affairs specialist in the Corps' Mobile, Ala. office, said hydraulic and mechanical dredging equipment owned by MCM Dredging Service, Inc. of Omaha, Neb. will be at the site sometime during the weekend of April 3.

She reported a $469,458 contract was awarded to MCM Thursday by the Mobile office.

The Corps had estimated the project cost to be between $500,000 and $1 million.

Smith said Paul Warren, Mobile office engineer and project contracting officer, reported, "He wasn't sure when the work would start."

But she said the Corps hopes the project will be completed before the summer recreation season.

Hancock County Civil Defense records indicate most deep hole victims drowned on weekend afternoons in June.

"We're looking at April 30 as a completion date, but we're not holding the contractor to that date," Smith stated.

"The dredging operation will be conducted 24-hours-per-day, seven-days-per-week until the project is completed," the public affairs specialist revealed.

"The contract calls for rental of equipment with operators," she said.

"The Corps advises marine interests to be aware that construction will be going on and avoid the area for safety reasons," she warned.

Smith noted the work will entail "re-arranging the bottom surface" to a "more natural slope" from the landward toward the seaward side of the underwater depression.

"This is bottom contour reconstruction work," she added.

Robert M. Bond of the Mobile office is project engineer, she reported.

Smith said the project was advertised March 3 with notices mailed to prospective bidders included in a Corps "bidders list."

Sam Green, public affairs chief of the Corps office, reported the Headquarters Office of the Chief Engineer in Washington, D.C. authorized the project after it was determined the work complies with the Federal Clean Water Act and will "have no significant effect on the environment."

To fill the hole, the Corps is proposing to remove "thin layers" of sand in a grid on the south and west sides of the hole with a barge-mounted dragline and hydraulic pipeline dredge.

The Corps estimates some 300,000 cubic yards of sand is needed to fill the deep hole.

At least 25 people have drowned during the last several years in the hole which was created in a 1968 Corps dredging project which formed sand beaches along the coastline in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Survivors of six of the victims have received some $160,000 in settlements from the federal government. Two cases have been appealed and an additional suit demanding $250,000 has been filed.

The oblong hole containing a quicksand mud bottom is located about 1,400 feet offshore from Gulfside Methodist Assembly Center and Buccaneer State Park.

The mud bottom was added in a more recent Corps project in which nearby Bayou Cadet channel maintenance dredging spoils were pumped into the hole in an attempt to remedy the hazard.

Five store clerks arrested in beer sales crack-down

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Five convenience store clerks were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors after selling beer to a minor on Good Friday, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

However, clerks in five other stores declined to sell beer to an underage junior deputy, Peterson added.

Peterson said, "We have been receiving numerous complaints about minors purchasing beer from local outlets. A check of 18 establishments was made using a 17-year-old junior deputy. He was told he had five places, and asked for identification in the other five."

"The junior deputy was told not to falsify his age; if asked, when making the purchase," Peterson added.

The clerks arrested and released on $100 bonds were Donna Ellis, Majic Market, Dunbar Avenue and US-90, Bay St. Louis; Sheila A. Sullivan, Little General, deMontmolin and US-90, Bay St. Louis; Patrick D. Green, at Gulf Service Station, 1-10 at Diamondhead; Richard G. Criss, The Hinky Dinky,

Senate committee promises Phillips confirmation vote

By EDGAR PEREZ

Bay St. Louis attorney Walter James Phillips Friday took issue with representatives of the Biloxi oyster industry who earlier in the week opposed his appointment to a state commission.

"I know more about oyster propagation and conservation than most of those seafood industry people who appeared at the hearing—all they know is harvesting and selling," Phillips contends.

"And after all, this is not an 'Oyster Commission' the governor has nominated me for," Phillips stated.

Phillips said while he understands the position of those opposing his appointment, "My point of view is much broader than theirs."

"I will bring to the commission experience in such matters as timber management; conservation of quail, turkey and deer; management of the interstate and international migratory waterfowl such as ducks and geese; and sport fishing," he added.

"The oyster industry is important but it's not the only area of interest to concern the Wildlife Conservation Commission," Phillips feels.

"And if I'm on the commission the oyster industry's needs certainly are not going to be neglected," the former state representative promised.

"I had advocated for years the planting of shells and propagation of oysters, as well as the leasing of state-owned waterbottoms to private interests as the best means of sustaining growth in the oyster industry," Phillips continued.

The Associated Press reported Wednesday representatives of the Gulf Coast seafood industry appeared at the hearing to object to Winter's appointment of Phillips.

They said they oppose the nomination of Phillips because they want the position filled by someone with experience in the seafood industry or marine management.

Committee members reported when they emerged later from the closed meeting that they took no vote.

Sen. Charles Ray Nix of Batesville, committee chairman, said the panel would vote in the near future.

Winter nominated Phillips to succeed Billy Gollott of Biloxi, owner and operator of a coast seafood business.

Sen. Tommy Gollott of Biloxi, a conservation Committee member, presented the seafood representatives to the committee and said later that he, too, favors appointing someone knowledgeable in the industry.

But he said the Gulf Coast interests are not necessarily pushing Billy Gollott, who he said was a distant cousin, for renomination.

Linda Gollott of Biloxi, president of Mississippi Shellfish Packers, presented letters and petitions in support of nominating someone with experience in marine fisheries management.

Gollott, a distant relative of Sen. Gollott, said the group had nothing against Phillips other than his lack of knowledge about the seafood industry.

Earl Fayard of Ocean Springs Seafood said state law requires someone on the commission with a background in marine technology, but that no one is now serving who meets that qualification.

Phillips told the committee he could understand the viewpoint of the seafood industry people.

But he said, "My point of view is broader than that."

He described himself as an outdoorsman with an extensive hunting background.

The nomination went into closed-door session after taking testimony on whether to recommend Phillips' appointment to the commission.

WALTER J. PHILLIPS

Phillips cited his managerial experience accumulated through years of service as a manager of the board of directors of Merchants Bank in Bay St. Louis.

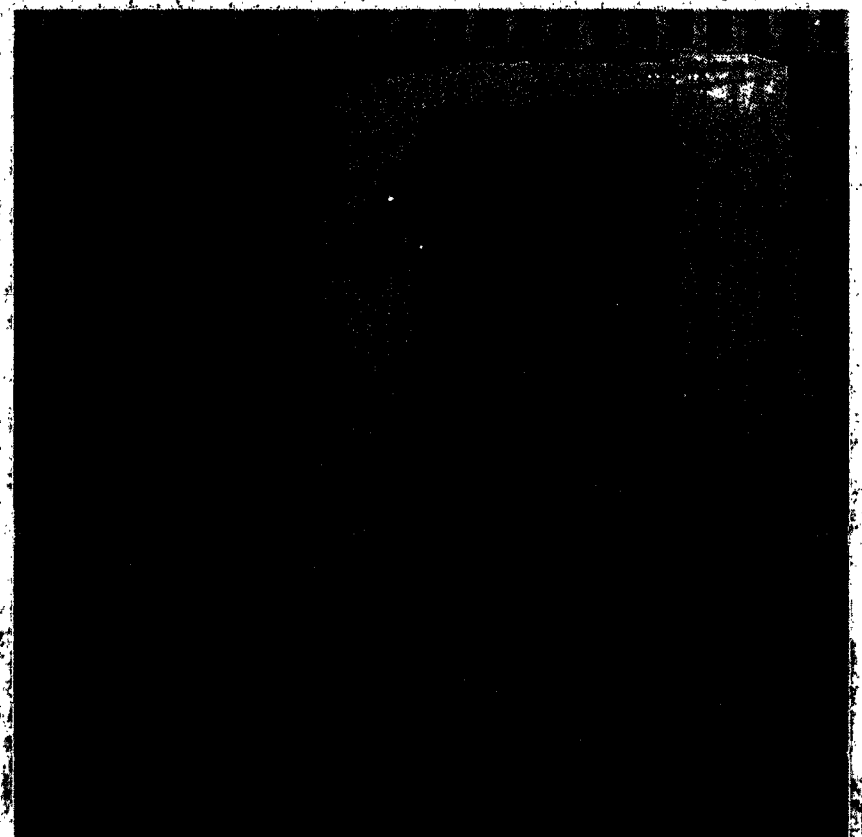

"I served on the bank's board of directors since 1970 and this commission is like a board of directors—there will be a state chairman and scientific experts working under the direction of the commission," Phillips added.

Pizza restaurant to open in Marketown this week

The opening of the new Big Cheese Pizza restaurant at Marketown Shopping Center, US-90 and Dunbar is scheduled for Tuesday. City and county officials are scheduled to attend.

Big Cheese Pizza was born in October, 1977 in Wichita, Kan., and has grown to include 85 restaurants in 10 Midwestern and Sunbelt states—Texas, New Mexico, Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Colorado, Wyoming, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Chuck Schleicher is one of the owners of the new Bay St. Louis eating establishment and will manage the restaurant.

"We have been a successful restaurant because we offer a heavy topping pizza, smothered by a mound of cheese. We offer diners a cozy and informal dining decor and we insist that each restaurant supply customers with quality, consistency and value," Schleicher explained.

The Mississippi franchise group plans to develop fifteen Big Cheese Pizza restaurants during the next five years, with Bay St. Louis as their first location. Schleicher has over twenty years of restaurant management experience. He was a part owner in Pizza Hut restaurants in Whitefish, Montana prior to selling out his interests and joining Big Cheese Pizza.

In addition to pizza, the menu at Big Cheese will feature spaghetti and meatballs, sandwiches, a complete salad bar and a variety of beverages. Customers will have a choice of dining in or carrying out.

"One of the special features,"

Schleicher said, "will be a continuous cooking oven which guarantees that a customer can get served and eat his or her meal within 20 minutes of the time the food is ordered. Everything on the menu is made fresh for each individual customer."

"We at Big Cheese are proud to be a part of the Bay St. Louis/Waveland Community. Our hallmarks will always be value, service, and cleanliness," Schleicher said.

Committee members reported when they emerged from the meeting that they had not settled the matter.

Senator Charles Ray Nix of Batesville, committee chairman, said the panel would vote on the issue "in the near future."

Senator George Smith of Long Beach, committee member, said after the meeting he probably would vote for confirmation.

"If there's a reason he shouldn't be there, I haven't heard it yet," Smith said of the opposition testimony.

Senator Martin Smith of Hancock County, another member of the wildlife committee, Wednesday declined to comment on the issue after the hearing.

First spelling bee termed a success

There were 24 winners from 14 area schools in the first annual Gulf Coast Spelling Bee, held at Bay Junior High Friday and Saturday.

The winners, which were those students to finish in the top three, came from among some 250 students from 16 area schools, and County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph called the event a success.

"I'd like to see the spelling bee expanded into a district event and include even more schools," said Randolph. "Also, I'd like to see the same type of competition carried over into other areas, such as mathematics, and be done on a district basis, as it is with the athletic programs."

April to be observed as 'Salute to Industry'

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and the Mississippi Department of Economic Development announced that April will be observed as a "Salute to Industry Month" in Hancock County.

Dick Thomas, Industrial Committee chairman for the chamber, said the official observance for April follow Governor Winter's proclamation urging all Mississippians to join in a salute to Mississippi's industry for its contributions to the state's economy.

This year represents the first annual observance of Mississippi's "Salute to Industry," Thomas said.

"In Hancock County we are extremely fortunate to have many companies providing jobs for our people which makes our industry a vital part of the local economy," he added.

"We're pleased," he said, "to join in saying thank you to our industry and to express our appreciation for their contributions."

Governor Winter said, "Our Mississippi industry is working for all of us by providing new jobs, payrolls and increased family incomes. And every industry is vitally important both locally and statewide as a taxpayer and as a consumer, pumping dollars back into our economy."

"It is highly appropriate," he said, "that the people of Mississippi let industry know in a special way that we appreciate those contributions. We hope that the designation of April as our 'Salute to Industry Month' will be the first step in a year-round effort to encourage our existing industry to continue to feel at home in Mississippi."

Veteran benefits changes outlined

The economic recession, by reducing job opportunities, has prompted more veterans to apply for vocational rehabilitation training benefits, said Charles W. Wickes, director, Jackson Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Many veterans with service-connected disabilities are eligible for the VA's vocational rehabilitation program, Wickes said.

For those who are eligible, the VA will pay for training and related expenses—including tuition, fees, necessary books, supplies and equipment—as well as provide a monthly subsistence allowance during the training. That is in addition to any compensation or other benefits to which the veteran is entitled.

For further information, write, visit or telephone VA Regional Office at 432-5996 in the Biloxi/Gulfport area or contact Hancock County Veterans Service Officer Mike Ladner in the Russell Youth Court Building, Court Street, Bay St. Louis. 467-2100.

In addition, unemployed or underemployed Vietnam-era veterans may be eligible for an extension of their educational benefits, Wickes advises.

He pointed out that modification of educational assistance legislation provides for the extension of the 10-year education eligibility period for certain veterans who may wish to pursue further vocational, apprenticeship, on-the-job training or a high school diploma. The Vietnam-era was Aug. 5, 1964—May 7, 1975.

"The benefit extension is aimed at putting unemployed and underemployed veterans into training or educational programs that will give them marketable skills so they can re-enter the work force," Wickes stressed.

To qualify for the extension, a veteran must have been unemployed or underemployed for six months and in need of additional training or education to obtain a more stable job.

Ending date for the extension is Dec. 31, 1984.

Chamber slates 'bed and breakfast' meeting April 21

Bed and Breakfast has long been an established part of the European travel scene and is a relatively new concept in the United States. Bed and Breakfast arrangements in homes throughout the country have become more and more popular and offers alternative lodging that is as appealing as it is affordable. Bed and Breakfast offers the homeowner a unique experience of meeting people from other parts of the country and a chance for supplemental income as well. The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will host a Bed and Breakfast meeting April 21 at 7 p.m. at the chamber office on US-90. Anyone interested in obtaining information on becoming Bed and Breakfast hosts, either on a permanent basis or a part-time basis for the period of the World's Fair in New Orleans is invited to attend this meeting. Persons becoming Bed and Breakfast host should have the desire to share their homes, have houses large enough to accommodate travelers adequately, provide a warm and friendly atmosphere and a desire for additional income. Potential Bed and Breakfast homes and hosts will be carefully screened by the Bed and Breakfast Committee for selection for participation in the program. These homes must meet the criteria of a national Bed and Breakfast League. Hosts, hostesses and homes will be carefully evaluated for the comfort and convenience of guests before application to the program will be made. With Expo '84 in New Orleans there will be an influx of visitors from throughout the United States and foreign countries as well. Many will prefer to stay in Mississippi and visit the fair site on a daily basis. Hosts will be required to provide a continental breakfast for all guests; also, Bed and Breakfast lodging simply provides old fashioned hospitality and a home away from home. For further information please contact the chamber office (467-9048).

DAR welcomes new Coast chapter

By JOE PILET

In an impressive ceremony held Thursday, March 31 on the Gulf Park campus in Long Beach, a newly organized chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution was formally named the Friendship Oak Chapter.

Mississippi now has 84 chapters and over 6,000 members in the nation's largest and oldest patriotic organization with a total membership of more than 200,000 daughters.

Mrs. William S. Murphy of Lucedale, state regent, administered the oath of office to Mrs. John C. Elkins of Long Beach, organizing regent; Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis, vice regent; Mrs. William J. Gemmel of Diamondhead, secretary; Mrs. Harry S. Walker of Diamondhead, treasurer; and Mrs. James E. Young of Long Beach, registrar.

"We are a dedicated service organization," Mrs. Murphy said, "and we must, as individuals, be willing to make a contribution to our communities in order that we may fulfill the goal that our founders envisioned."

NSDAR was organized Oct. 11, 1890 for the purpose of perpetuating American heritage and to aid in promotion of educational advantages and to foster patriotism.

Addressing the chapter's membership Mrs. Murphy said: "I welcome you into the ranks of the National Society. You form another link in the mighty chain sustaining American ideals and American institutions. Remember first and last that you are a member of the national society and also that you are chapter members for the sake of convenience and more effectively to promote the work of the society in your community."

To fulfill a national requirement, the history of the chapter's name must be placed on file in the organization's Washington, D.C. headquarters.

Appearing on the program, Mrs. Pilet outlined briefly the history of the Friendship Oak to members and guests as they sat beneath the platform of that famous tree.

Friendship Oak is estimated to be between 500 to 600 years old and is located on the campus of the University of Southern Mississippi.

It was planted by Col. James B. Hardy, who was in 1815 a leader in founding a fashionable Junior College for girls on the site.

The school opened in 1821 with Dr. Richard G. Cox serving as president.

Yachael Lindsay, a poet of the area, was a faculty member at the school.

was built in the massive oak where Prof. Lindsay held English and poetry classes.

At that time the tree was said to have a spread of 117 feet with its upper branches reaching a height of 80 feet.

The Sophomore Class of 1969

caused a bronze plaque to be placed beneath the tree with the inscription: "I am called the Friendship Oak. Those who enter my shadow will remain friends through all their lifetime."

A member of the Live Oak

Society this tree carries No. 1487. The live oak is a favorite tree of the coastal area because it resists damages from storms, insects and disease.

During the Bicentennial year the Friendship Oak was featured by the Forestry Commission as one of 20 famous trees of Mississippi, and South Central Bell Telephone Company also featured the tree on the front cover of its directory.

In 1980 Josephine Alphonso, a well known local artist, was commissioned to make a drawing of the historic tree. Information given with her drawing reveals: "Long Beach's land mark tree has foliage so thick that during a heavy rain the ground remains dry — her height at the crown is 70 feet. Her trunk over five feet in diameter. The average length of the main lateral limbs is 55 to 60 feet from the trunk, affording nearly 12,000 square feet of shelter."

Oak Society. Trunk of the Friendship Oak, located on the campus just off U.S. 90, is five feet in diameter and its main lateral limbs spread 55 to 60 feet from the trunk, affording some 12,000 square feet of shelter. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Coast Rose Society invites new members

The recently formed Mississippi Gulf Coast Rose Society is open to all people along the Coast who are interested in all aspects of rose growing, whether it be a few bushes or a full-fledged rose garden.

Beach Blvd., Gulfport (one block west of the Mississippi Power Company). Parking and entrance to the Parish House is on 31st Avenue.

The April program will be on developing and maintaining an effective spraying program.

Interested persons are invited to attend the next meeting on April 11.

DAR

Mrs. Pilet concluded her report by noting: "One objective of the DAR is to promote interest in historical spots. In naming this chapter the Friendship Oak we have shown our interest in preserving our local heritage."

"I have brought you something," smiled Mrs. Murphy as she presented the presiding officer with a handsome gavel made of crape myrtle wood.

The gavel was made at Tamassee, a DAR school which is located in South Carolina. In promoting education the DAR also owns a school in Grant, Alabama which is called the Kate Duncan Smith School.

In addition, NSDAR helps in the support of five other schools. To qualify a school must be for underprivileged boys and girls who otherwise would not have an opportunity for an education. DAR also assists with loans and scholarships for deserving students.

Of national interest is a grave marker in the Live Oak Cemetery of Pass Christian. The marker was placed on the iron fence which encloses the Butler plot by the Mississippi Conference DAR in March of 1932.

Frances Parke Lewis Butler was interred here in 1875.

She was the daughter of Nellie Custis and Lawrence Lewis and the great-granddaughter of Martha Washington as well as the great niece of George Washington.

The grave is located to the left of the main gate entrance.

Beside the grave of Mrs. Butler is that of her husband, Edward George Washington

Butler, and that of a son, Edward George Washington Butler Jr. who was a major in the 11th Louisiana Volunteers, killed in the Battle of Belmont, Mo.

The Confederate Cross of Honor was placed at his grave by the UDC of Gulfport Chapter and the presiding general from Washington was present for the ceremony.

Frances Parke Lewis Butler was a resident of Pass Christian. She lived at 861 East Beach Blvd. in a one-story house of Greek Revival design. It was built in 1849.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

In an American Tour Guide Series compiled in 1939 the home was listed as a show place (open by permission) and the following information is quoted from that source:

"Giant magnolias partially conceal the house, and on the front lawn is one of the coast's largest and most interesting camellia japonicas."

The plant of the single blossom type, was rooted by Mrs. Frances Parke Lewis Butler. She died in the house in 1875 and was buried in the Butler plot in the Live Oak Cemetery."

It is said that cuttings from that camellia still survive.

In concluding her talk Mrs. Murphy said: "Women today have discovered that the home is no longer the only place where a woman has work to do or where she finds fulfillment and makes a contribution to society. Find the area of service that interest you most, give it your best and the rewards will be great."

The DAR has 24 national committees so there is an area of interest for everyone.

The names of 18 charter members of the Friendship Oak Chapter have been submitted, however, Mrs. Murphy explained that any persons coming into the chapter during its first year would be registered as charter members.

Women who are 18 years of age or older may apply for membership if they can prove they are descendants of a man or woman who fought for American independence, or who rendered aid to someone who fought.

Mrs. Young, registrar for the group, will assist anyone who needs application forms or assistance.

main road, and then the five miles into Northampton, Father talking the whole way about savages and the awfulness of America. How it got turned into a dope-taking, door-locking ulcerated danger zone with rabid scavengers and criminal millionaires and moral sneaks. And look at the schools. And look at the politicians. And there wasn't a Harvard graduate who could change a flat tire or do ten pushups...

And so begins "The Mosquito Coast" by Paul Theroux, a brilliant novel filled with savage imagery and exotic adventures with a self-reliant philosophy expounded by one of the most memorable characters in recent fiction. The narrative is carried by an intelligent fourteen-year old son, Charlie Fox. Charlie idolizes his father, Allie, as evidenced by a passage early in the book in which Charlie says, "The feeling of someone missing is stronger than when someone is there. I knew Father had left the house. I felt as though there was a big hole where his body should have been."

Allie is continually preaching to his family about survival and the approaching destruction of America. After only a couple chapters based in Northampton, Mass., Allie loads his family—Mother, Charlie, Jerry and the twins Clover and April—into the pickup truck for their first leg on the journey to the jungles of Honduras.

Along the way, Allie gives away all of the Foxes' worldly possessions. On the banana boat bound for Central America, he argues with missionaries and miraculously prevents the boat from sinking during a fierce thunderstorm. Allie is always making enemies never friends.

Once in Honduras, he propels his family into the dense tropical foliage at breakneck speed, never bothering to look over his shoulder, only clomping on his cigar and rambling on about the destruction of man. About the setting, Charlie observes, "Then, still dark, there was no road. We were thrown into a dead end of trees, ferns, bushes against the headlights; the loud stomach of jungle."

"The Mosquito Coast" crackles from Theroux's effortless, flowing dialogue that he spins around us like a silken spider web. His observations are keen and pure. The imagery is tangible and it glows in the equatorial sun, or drenches us like an afternoon deluge in a rain forest and plunges us again and again into the heart of darkness, the nightmare of simple survival.

"The Mosquito Coast" never allows us a glimpse of things to come. You can speculate and observe all you want, but you'll never guess what kind of adventure Allie Fox will lead you on next.

This book had its first paperback printing in March of this year. It is available in area bookstores and in some convenience stores. In addition, it is soon to be made into a major motion picture, produced by Jerome Hellman, who has given us such fine films as "Midnight Cowboy" and "Coming Home."

But don't wait for the movie, this book moves like a jungle cat; swift, elusive and effective. Its pounding pulse is drawn directly from its near-immortal main character. In the final analysis, "The Mosquito Coast" is an extraordinary work of quality fiction.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

—John 10:10

"I will praise thee; I am fearfully and wonderfully made; marvelous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth, right well." (Psalm 139:14)

I read the following from Pulpit Helps, a magazine designed to give preachers interesting material:

If you are a person of average size you perform in each 24 hour day the following functions:

1. Your heart beats 103,689 times.
2. You breathe 23,040 times.
3. You inhale 438 cubic feet of air.
4. You eat between three and four pounds of food, and drink three quarts of liquid, and perspire about two pints through your skin.
5. Your body maintains a steady temperature of 98.6 degrees under all weather conditions.
6. You generate 450 tons of energy every 24 hours!
7. You speak 4,800 words, and move and use over 700 muscles, use 7,000,000 brain cells, and walk seven miles in the home.

Indeed we are wonderfully and marvelously made! The above only touches the hem of the garment as to what the body really does!

It is my contention that a human body could not just happen into being. Like a watch on your wrist, it had to have a designer and maker. I choose to believe that my maker and designer is the God who spoke the world into existence, with all the beauty and grandeur.

I feel so indebted to the God who made me and lets me enjoy such marvelous beauty of the earth. I am made to wonder at those who seemingly take such blessings for granted.

This brings us to Easter and the resurrection of our Lord.

"But Christ has indeed been raised from the dead, the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep. For since death came through a man, the resurrection of the dead comes also through a man. For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive." (I Corinthians 15:20-22)

You see the "good news" is not that our bodies will be raised. For some have crippled bodies, some withered bodies, some frail bodies and some obese bodies.

The "good news" is that we'll have new bodies! Paul said, "For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will be changed...for the perishable must clothe itself with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality." (I Corinthians 15:52-53)

So you see as great as our bodies are now, and they do make excellent servants.

They are nothing compared to the imperishable bodies that we shall receive on that great day when our Lord returns!

So spread the "good news of the resurrection of Jesus Christ!" Tell your neighbor! Tell your schoolmates! Tell your family! That because He has risen, so will we!

Be looking for the "Abundant Life Crusade for Christ" coming May 1-6, a non-denominational, back-to-the-Bible campaign intended to encourage Bay area residents to elect Jesus Christ to be Lord of their lives.

A resounding "No" to sorrow, sinfulness and death: Jesus of Nazareth, the Christ, is risen! In giving up his life for us, he gave a triumphant "Yes" to life, love and hope. Kindly remember in prayer Rodgley Curry who was buried from St. Rose last Wednesday.

Alter Ladies made the Palm Sunday Breakfast very successful. Members donated food and money. Parishioners and friends participated. It was very gratifying. There are no religious instructions today for children attending public school. Next classes will be on Sunday, April 17.

Monday at 6:30 p.m. the Confirmation Class, along with parents, godparents and sponsors will meet in church for practice. Confirmation Mass will be next Sunday at 9 a.m.

Parish families who wish to share in the Parish Family Dinner after Mass to honor newly confirmed are asked to inform Marilyn Williams, 467-2464, chairperson, as to what covered dish will be brought.

Our Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

On Thursday at 7 p.m. parents or guardians of our First Communion Class will meet in the cafeteria. Final plans will be made for the First Communion Mass on Sunday, April 17, at 9 a.m. Catholic Youth Organization will meet on Monday, April 11, at 7 p.m.

On Monday, April 11, at 8 p.m. the Xavier University Choir will present an Evening of Music in our church. Mark your calendar! Ellen Hazen will be a member of the group. Donations will be accepted in church that night to defray the expenses of dinner for the choir after the program. (The Echo inadvertently reported earlier the chorus would appear at St. Augustine Gymnasium.)

MASS SCHEDULE

Sunday, 7 and 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. No 7 a.m. Mass today. Daily, Monday through Saturday, 6:30 a.m. Saturday (Vigil) 6 p.m. Novena Devotions to Mother of Perpetual Help at beginning of Tuesday, Mass. Confessions are heard half hour before weekend Masses and upon request.

THE MORMONS

Waveland Ward

Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints

By PATTY BALDREE

Ward Public Information
Marquis Warren Atkinson of the High Council of the Gulfport Stake of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints addressed the membership of the Waveland Ward at that group's Mar. 13 regularly scheduled sacrament meeting.

Atkinson began his comments by quoting from the Pearl of Great Price (Moses 1:32-33) "...And worlds without number have I created; and I also created them for mine own purpose; and by the Son I created them, which is mine only Begotten."

"He was not a novice; He was not an amateur," Atkinson stated, "He took of the materials which were at hand and made us a world!"

"He was a member of the Godhead, (the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost); He participated in the great council of heaven which decided that they should build a world—a world where mortals could work out their salvation."

"He was a birthright son, the firstborn of the Father, and He retained that birthright by his strict obedience to the law. He was the only begotten of the Father in the flesh. He is our elder brother," Atkinson continued, "and we, like Him, are in the image of God. We are literally spirit offspring of divinity."

Atkinson then told of that council in heaven during premortality when one-third of the host of heaven chose to follow Lucifer and his followers.

He then quoted Joseph Smith who said "Perfection is like climbing a ladder. You must begin at the bottom and ascend step by step until you arrive at the top."

And so it is with the principles of the gospel. You must begin with the first and go on until you learn all of the principles of exaltation."

Mrs. Atkinson added, "The Beatitudes are really the stairway to perfection and anyone can receive power from the Lord to become like him."

As a member of the High Council of the Gulfport Stake of The Church, Atkinson is responsible for the maintenance of the existing buildings in the Stake and for any new construction, additions and alterations of facilities.

He has served as a High Councilman in two other Stakes, as an Aaronic Priesthood advisor, Young Women's advisor, Sunday School superintendent and Elders Quorum president.

He was set apart as a High Priest in the Melchizedek Priesthood by the late LeGrand Richards who was known and loved by many people in this County.

Atkinson served in the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific during World War II. He is a doctor of chiropractic in Gulfport and this fall will run for senator of the State Legislature from the 46th District.

Atkinson, his wife and four children are active members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

He spoke of Jesus' plan and the great battle in heaven between Lucifer's followers and the Los Angeles Temple in 1961. Mrs. Atkinson received her teaching degree from State Teacher's College in Springfield, Mo., and began teaching grades one through four at the age of 14.

She has held numerous church positions since her baptism including on two stake Relief Society boards, and teaching the gospel doctrine class in Sunday school.

He'd be the top chef in any cook's book.

He'd rather work for the Navy.

From chefs and nuclear-trained engineers to machinists and skilled surgeons, some of the best people in their fields are in the Navy. And that makes us proud.

They're Navy-trained career people. Men and women who are proud of their country.

DOWN HOME

by DARLENE UNDERWOOD
Hancock County Extension Home Economist

If you are looking for ways to economize and serve interesting meals, consider Mexican foods. Many favorite Mexican dishes are low in cost, high in nutrition and easy to prepare. Any one of these characteristics makes a recipe worth trying, but all three in one recipe is a real bonus.

Markets carry a variety of ingredients for making Mexican dishes. Restaurants also offer wide choices of colorful, flavorful Mexican foods that are typical of those from south of the border.

Many Mexican dishes have little, if any, meat. The protein content comes primarily from the complementary plant proteins in the legumes and grains used, along with a little cheese. Refried beans (legumes) and corn or wheat tortillas (grain) form the basis for what we consider to be true Mexican cuisine. In fact, the national dish of Mexico is rice and beans, which is a complete protein since the grains and legumes are included in the same meal.

Many people find it convenient to make food purchases once a week. Others buy more frequently, as needs arise when money is available.

The amount of money spent for food varies because of differences in income, family size, ethnic background and locality. When planning how much you can realistically spend, consider the following: personal preferences of individuals in your family, nutritional needs, number of meals eaten away from home, amount of entertaining you do, amount of food you prepare yourself, stores where you shop and other demands on your income.

To keep track of your spending and control food-dollar costs, you need a plan. The first step in developing one is to estimate how much money you have to spend. What is your monthly take-home pay? Next, determine how much you must spend to meet monthly expenses.

These include fixed expenses, those which you must pay on specific dates and in specific amounts, such as rent or mortgage payments, utilities, installment debts, and flexible expenses, those which are paid on an irregular basis in varying amounts, such as clothing, food, transportation and entertainment.

How much do you plan to spend for food? For the next several weeks save all cash register receipts or refer to your checkbook, if you make food purchases by check. Then, record what you have actually spent for food.

Some parts of every dollar you spend in the supermarket may go for nonfood items—drug items, cosmetics, kitchen utensils, cleaning supplies, paper goods or magazines. If you consider these items as part of the grocery bill, recognize what proportion of your so-called food dollar goes for these non-food items.

Meals eaten away from home may be considered food expenditures or entertainment expenses, or divided, between food and entertainment, depending on how these costs fit into your total spending plan.

After several weeks compare what you are spending for food with what you planned to spend. Is the amount more or less than expected? Although making quantity purchases or taking advantage of special sales may mean excessive spending one week, you are likely to spend less in the following weeks.

Special occasions or holidays also tend to increase food costs. Remember, it takes time and practice to become a skillful manager of food dollars and keep food costs within set limits. From time to time, adjustments in spending will have to be made, as food prices and/or needs change.

ETV Brief

JEWISH ARTISTS

"The Holocaust: Artists and Images" pays tribute to Jewish artists and their creativity at 10:30 p.m., Monday, April 4, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Acquired from the Israel Museum in Jerusalem, the half-hour documentary is presented in two parts. "Light and Shadow" focuses on the works of promising Jewish artists who perished in the Holocaust. "Scenes from the Holocaust" is a compilation of black and white sketches drawn by Jews who managed to survive long enough to record what they witnessed in the death camps. In many instances, the works of the artists featured in the program are all that remains as testimony to their existence.

LAGNAPPE OF THE MONTH!!

If you listed all the features you'd like in your next home and then looked this lovely 3 bedroom, 3 bath waterfront, brick and frame over, you'd have some extras that you could call lagnappe!!! First! Esther Williams swimming pool in the spacious landscaped yard with moss laden oaks and pines, boat house and slip. When you enter this breath taking combination Great room with fireplace and formal dining, you know this is not an ordinary home!! The big Master bedroom, with it's large walk-in dressing room and 2 compartment bath with luxurious carpet is on a second step-up level, as in the kitchen and breakfast area holding all the built-ins you can dream of, highlighted lots of beautiful custom made blonde cabinets. The children's wing on the lower level (with second heat pump) has 2 large bedrooms (each with it's own bath), Thick pile carpets and walk-in closets and utility room with lots of features. I forgot to mention delightful hidden built-in desk behind the shutter doors in the front entry, and also attached double carport and storage. Now here's the Lagnappe; all of this for $77,500, with existing assumable loan. Make appointment to look this over today and come the features I failed to mention.
